80 At Midland Hear Outline For Planning

Borough's Future Projected At Joint Meeting Of Groups

By EARL RANKIN

Midland's new comprehensive plan, completed in November, was unveiled Thursday evening before one of the largest audiences to date to hear the borough project explained. The plan is for the future growth and improvement of the community.

Over 80 attended a joint meeting of the Lions Club, Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce at Deramo's Restaurant. School officials and other interested persons also attended.

James R. Woglom, assistant division planner for Morris Knowles, Inc., Pittsburgh and Eastern planning engineers, spoke on the plan. There were remarks by Norman L. Howenstein, regional supervisor of planning for the Bureau of Community Development of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

MIDLAND FACES some tough problems, two of which are the relocation of Route 68 and building of a central business district, Woglom told the group.

Under a 6-year capital improvements program in the plan, the relocation and improvement of Route 68 would be started in 1965 at a cost of about $2,500,000 to the state and none to the borough.

The central business district would come under the primary business and industry urban renewal project to be started in 1965 with the aid of federal, state and borough funds and a bond issue. The borough's share would be about $150,000, one-sixth of the cost. It would gain since the net project cost would be about $900,000.

When the new Shippingport-Midland bridge is built a half-mile from Midland, traffic is expected to increase 30 per cent, adding further to existing congestion. Three alternatives of the relocation were outlined.

ALSO GIVEN detailed study was the need for a central business district, he said. Retail sales are falling off from those of the competing areas. Present problems are those of traffic, little off-street parking and stores being widely spaced. This can be remedied by rehabilitation. The area between 4th and 8th Sts., from Woodland Ave. to Railroad Ave., would be

John F. Kelly To Seek New Term On Council

John F. Kelly, 1029 Vine St., filed Thursday with the County Election Board to seek nomination for a second term as Second Ward councilman in the May 2 Democratic primary.

Kelly has been employed 20 years at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., where he is a heater in the hot strip mill. He also operates a real estate rental business.

Born in Wellsville in 1923, he moved to East Liverpool 3 years later with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kelly. He attends St. Aloysius Catholic Church and is a member of the Lions Club, the Elks Lodge and the Blue and White Nonpareil Club. He is married and has two daughters.

40 Nominated For Voting Of Pottery Union

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today issued the first list of 40 nominees selected by its local unions to date for the March 7 primary election on the 12 offices comprising the union's Executive Board.

A long list of additional nominations is expected later, as locals throughout the nation are permitted to name prospective aspirants at their first January meetings.

The IBOP explained nominees have 20 days following publication of their names to accept primary ballot places. The two nominees who receive the highest vote totals in the primaries will run again in the general election May 2. Terms will be for four years.

With one exception, the preliminary list of candidates shows all incumbents have been nominated for new terms.

Headed by E. L. Wheatley president, and Charles F. Jordan, secretary-treasurer, the renominations also include Vice Presidents Walter Clawges, George Barbaree, Arthur Devlin and George Smith of Trenton, N. J., James Slaven of Cannons Mills, Frank Dales of East Liverpool, William Rail of Huntington Park, Calif., Leonard Greco of Beaver Falls and Clyde Jones of Alliance.

The only incumbent not named in the initial list is George Pace of Huntington Park, second vice president.

Two other nominees for president are listed to date: Frank Duffy of Local 10 (Turners and Handlers) in East Liverpool and John Feltes of Local 218 (Sanitary) in Torrance, Calif.

Donald Miller To Run For Wellsville Mayor

Councilman Donald Miller filed Thursday with the County Election Board to seek the Democratic nomination for mayor of Wellsville in the May 2 primaries.

Miller now is serving his first full term as Third Ward councilman. About two years ago, he served four months of an unexpired term as member-at-large, replacing Kenneth Bell, who was named Council clerk.

Married and the father of 3 children, Miller is an inspector at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., where he has been employed 19 1/2 years. He is a member of the Central Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge 180 and Royal Arch Masons 55, both of Wellsville, and the Scottish Rite of Steubenville.

A kick-off meeting for the annual Columbiana County Heart Fund Drive was held Thursday night at Lisbon at which township chairmen for the February campaign were announced.

About 28 attended the meeting of the county Heart Council at the Hotel Wick where Sidney Porter Jr., president, listed the chairmen.

Labor Council Will Get Facts On City Funds

'Down-To-Earth' Data Promised At City Hall Tonight

City Council is scheduled to meet tonight at 7:30 with representatives of the city's financial condition.

Councilman John Melvin, chairman of the Council finance committee, said he made arrangements for the discussion with Elmer Robinson, president of Trades Council, to present "a down-to-earth picture on the city's financial condition."

Councilmen will explain the sources of the city's revenue and how it is allocated, Melvin said. They will point out how the municipality ended 1960 with a deficit and explain an even greater shortage of funds is in sight for 1961, based on estimates of anticipated income.

The worn condition of much of the city's equipment, including police cruisers, will be pointed out to the Trades Council spokesmen, Melvin said.

The central body went on record against the proposed tax at a meeting last week and announced it would circulate petitions to force a fourth vote on the issue at the November general election.

Vetoed last Saturday by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, the tax ordinance still is not in effect. Council is scheduled to receive the mayor's veto message at its meeting Monday night. Then it must wait a minimum of 10 days before taking a vote on overriding the mayor's veto.

Proposing the lowest rate of any of the income tax measures, the legislation calls for a levy of five-tenths of one per cent, which amounts to 50 cents on each $100 of earnings or other income, including business and industrial profits. It is designed to produce approximately $200,000 a year. Without additional revenue, the city will be forced to lay off an estimated 35 employees, Council said at the time the ordinance was enacted.

1 Killed, 3 Are Safe In Jet Bomber Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — One crewman is dead but three others have survived the crash of their six-engine Air Force jet bomber near famed Mt. Palomar Observatory.

The B47 crashed and burned Thursday, setting off a five-acre brush fire, shortly after taking off from March Air Force Base.

Laos Pilots Again Shoot At Pro-Reds

U.S.-Supplied Planes Used In Pounding At Artillery Positions

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government's four newly acquired planes from the United States pounded the pro-Communist rebels' artillery positions 70 miles north of Vientiane today for the third straight day.

No reports were available so far on the damage but military experts said the Laotian pilots—trained in France and Thailand—probably would need more of flying to sharpen their aim.

So far there was no sign of air retaliation from the Soviet Union, Communist China or North Viet Nam, which support the Pathet Lao rebels. But Western intelligence sources reported an old model Soviet spotter plane, was observed directing rebel artillery fire on Monday, the day before the United States delivered the four propeller-driven trainer planes the government forces are using.

Use of the planes for attack missions raised fears among British and French diplomats here that the Soviets or Red Chinese would supply combat planes for use against the anti-Communist forces.

The planes were reported attacking in the area of the Nam Lic River, 70 miles north of Vientiane, where two companies of government forces were reported engaged with a rebel force of about the same size.

Job-Holders Get Reprieve

Courthouse Aides To Stay On Until Feb. 1

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday, with only two members present, continued until Feb. 1 the status of approximately 15 Courthouse job-holders appointed by the Democrats when they took over the office in 1959.

Commissioner Walter Hunston, president of the board, said that due to the absence of the other Republican commissioner, Galen Greenstein, he didn't feel that he wanted to make any appointments, as he thought "it would be unfair."

As the next meeting of the board is not until Monday, Hunston said he felt the present staff should continue through Jan. 31.

He made this motion and Frank Wilson, the other board member, and a Democrat, gave the second.

Democrats contend the office aides have classified status but Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has ruled they lack Civil Service protection. His ruling was entered in the minutes last night.

Wilson entered Salem City Hospital last night and expects to be confined for five to seven days for observation and thus may not attend the board's next regular meeting.

In other business, commissioners signed a year's lease with Edward A. and Edith Heim, for warehouse space to house the surplus foods at 529 E. Chestnut St. The building is adjacent to the Heim Sheet Metal, Inc. Heim will also furnish a truck and driver at $5 per hour for the surplus foods program set up in 1959.

Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, and head of the county surplus foods program, said he hopes to have the new central location in time for the distribution in February. The biggest item to be moved in is the walk-in freezer.

The present warehouse in Columbiana was rented from Henry Keck, who also furnished the trucking facilities. The commissioners will pay $100 per month plus fuel and light at the new location. They paid $75 per month in Columbiana, plus utilities.

Probe Opens In Georgia U. Riot

Legal Maneuver To Seek Readmission Of Negroes

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A legal move seeking readmission of two Negro students to the University of Georgia was planned today as the FBI and the Georgia Legislature opened separate investigations into rioting on the university campus.

The students were suspended following an anti-integration demonstration in which stones and firecrackers were thrown and police used tear gas. They were taken from the campus at Athens early Thursday and returned to their homes in Atlanta.

Constance Motley, an attorney for Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, promptly asked the U.S. District Court in Macon to reverse the suspension.

In overruling her oral motion, U.S. Dist. Judge W. A. Boodle suggested a written motion be filed. The judge conferred with Mrs. Motley and attorneys for the state and then said court would convene at 2 p. m. today.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers disclosed in Washington the Justice Department was "initiating a preliminary investigation of reported mob action at the University of Georgia to ascertain whether or not federal law violations occurred."

The Georgia House of Representatives named a special five-man subcommittee to begin hearings in Athens today to check conflicting reports and rumors of recent happenings at the university.

House Speaker George L. Smith II said in a statement he was confident the subcommittee would "neither whitewash the event nor engage in a witch hunt."

More than half the 600 members of the Georgia faculty Thursday night unanimously adopted a resolution saying, "We insist that the two suspended students be returned to their classes."

The resolution also urged "all measures necessary to the protection of students and faculty and to the preservation of orderly education be taken by appropriate state authorities."

Fifty student leaders began circulating petitions protesting violence and urging "decisive action" by university officials.

These developments in the state's week-old integration crisis occurred shortly after Judge Boodle issued a far-reaching decision invalidating that portion of Georgia's appropriations act which bans use of tax monies for support of an integrated public school or college.

The judge continued in effect an injunction granted Tuesday against Gov. Ernest Vandiver and other state officials which had kept them from closing the university by cutting off funds.

The governor had no comment on the federal order. But he made it clear at a news conference he had no plans to help Miss Hunter and Holmes return to classes at the university.

Dag's Answer Due Today On Soviet Charge

Claim He Assisted In Mapping Attack On Lumumba Forces

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold flew back from Africa today to answer Soviet charges that he helped Belgium organize an attack on pro-Lumumba forces in the Congo from the neighboring U.N. trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi.

After visits to the Congo and South Africa, Hammarskjold abandoned plans to go on to India and hurried back for the continuation of council debate on the Congo.

The council began debate Thursday on a Soviet complaint that Belgium helped troops of Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo army chief, mount an attack from Ruanda-Urundi Jan. 1 against troops holding the Congo's Kivu Province for Mobutu's prisoner, deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba. The Lumumbist rebels repelled the attack.

Diplomatic sources said they expected Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic to submit a resolution critical of the Belgian action.

They said the resolution would be drawn to attract the largest possible vote and would be milder than the demands Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin made to the council Thursday.

Zorin said the council should condemn Belgium as an aggressor, ask it to withdraw all Belgian military and civilian personnel from the Congo and request the General Assembly to give urgent consideration to (1) depriving Belgium of its trusteeship over Ruanda-Urundi and (2) granting the territory immediate independence.

Vandals Throw Rocks, Damaging Roof Of Car

The roof of an auto was dented and scratched by stones hurled by vandals while it was parked in the 400 block of W. 8th St. Thursday afternoon and night, the owner complained to police.

Dave Hall, 812 John St., told police his 1952 model car was damaged sometime between 1:15 and 8:30. It appeared the damage was caused by persons who stood on a wall above the car and threw rocks, Hall said.

Meanwhile, Gary Clark, 324 Norton St., told police four hubcaps were stolen from his 1955 model auto between 7:30 and 10:30 p. m. Thursday while it was parked at his home.

Board Adopts Big Program For Hancock

Meeting in special session Thursday night, the Hancock County Board of Education officially adopted the recommendation of an educational research and service team from Ohio State University for a $5 million expansion and modernization program.

The OSU research team filed the recommendation with the board late last year after a six-month study of the county school system.

The proposed building program recommended by the OSU group headed by Dr. Arthur E. Wohlers, project coordinator, includes construction of two new high school buildings and a new junior high.

The OSU researchers recommended that one new high school for sophomores, juniors and seniors be constructed on a site already purchased by the board for $30,000 near Pughtown.

The 97-acre tract purchased for the northern high school building is on Gas Valley Rd. The second senior high was recommended for the Weirton area, also the location for the proposed new junior high.

The OSU group recommended the $5 million expansion program to cope with yearly increases in enrollment.

The board plans to submit a $5 million bond issue to county voters sometime in May. No definite date has been selected. The board said the bond issue will not mean any additional tax rates to residents in continuing the present financial program.

The board also conferred with Pros. Atty. Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. Donald Donell, assistant prosecutor, on contract arrangements with Kellam & Foley Architects of Columbus, which will design the three new proposed buildings.

GOP Seeking Repeals

Ohio Legislative Battles Due Repeat Performances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of the legislative battles fought two years ago seem scheduled for repeat performances in the coming months of this year's session.

Republicans already have introduced several bills to repeal acts of the Democratic-dominated General Assembly of 1959.

One such repealer offered by Rep. D. O. Taber, R - Gallia, would strip from the Highway Department the right to borrow trust-fund money for advance purchase of right of way. The 1959 session gave the department authority to borrow from various state retire-

Kennedy Calls In Rusk About Foreign Plans

No Sharp Departure In Policy Indicated By New Secretary

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy confers today with the new administration's secretary of state, Dean Rusk, on foreign policy problems and organization matters.

Rusk flew to Palm Beach Thursday night after indicating in Washington, in testimony to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that the Kennedy regime plans no immediate sharp departures in dealing with trouble spots around the globe.

Kennedy and Rusk scheduled a morning meeting and a luncheon session at the president-elect's ocean-front home.

Kennedy announced he is retaining two Eisenhower administration officials.

Joseph Charyk will continue to serve as undersecretary of the Air Force.

Thomas D. Morris, now an assistant director of the Budget Bureau, will be assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics.

The president-elect Thursday night chose Edward Gudeman, Chicago investment banker, to be undersecretary of commerce.

Gudeman, 54, is a former vice president and at present a director of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Last year he became a general partner in the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers. He is a graduate of Harvard College.

In his Washington testimony, Rusk was questioned by senators about his views on Red China, Cuba, summit conferences, Amer-

Senate Okay Needed Now For Passage

Cent Boost To 3% For 7 1/2 Months May Take Effect Sunday

CHARLESTON, — Gov-elect W. W. Barron's bills to raise the consumers' sales tax for the next 7 1/2 months to provide money for an emergency public works program passed the West Virginia House of Delegates by wide margins today.

The House approved the measures by 78-16 and 80-15 votes but it did not mean final approval. The delegates went into recess to await action on corresponding bills in the Senate which met a half-hour later.

The Senate also had its bills up for passage.

The House Democratic leadership planned to try to pass the Senate bills in one sitting when they came over later in the morning after expected Senate approval.

This required a four-fifths vote in the House to suspend the rule requiring a bill to be read on three separate days. Although three previous attempts to suspend the rule on the sales tax measure had failed in the House, the margin on both of the bills today was better than four-fifths.

Speaker Julius Singleton Jr., D-Monongalia, said he thought there was a good chance supporters would be able to come up with the necessary vote to suspend on the Senate bills when they reached the House. The tax increase would take effect Sunday.

If they are successful, the bill could be on Gov. Cecil H. Underwood's desk before the day is over to be signed into law. Underwood said last night that although he hadn't studied the bill, he would ican fliers being held by the Soviet Union, and U.S. relations with the nation's allies.

Indications are Rusk will have clear sailing in winning Senate confirmation of his nomination, which Kennedy will formally submit after taking office a week from today.

On Communist China, Rusk said he sees no present prospect of the United States establishing normal diplomatic relations with the Red regime. But he said, "The presence in mainland China of a large and powerful force is one of the facts... we cannot ignore."

As for the anti-American Castro government of Cuba, Rusk said he is very much disturbed by that situation. He called for intensified efforts to get the truth to the people of Latin America, through the United States Information Agency.

Rusk left open the possibility of Kennedy attending a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev—provided there was some hope such talks would be fruitful.

He said the new administration will do its best to win freedom for two U.S. Air Force fliers held by the Soviet Union since their plane was downed north of the Soviet Union last year.

Rusk arrived in Palm Beach a few hours after Kennedy had made public summaries of five study committee reports dealing with the international situation. All the groups were appointed by the president-elect.

The fee is $2 for borough residents and $9.95 for those residing outside the borough limits. Any person 17 or older and not attending day school may enroll, Walters said.

If 75 per cent of the class is attended, the fee for Midland residents will be refunded, he explained. Twenty or more are required to form a class except for the comptometer class which requires only 10.

Classes will begin Jan. 23 and meet every Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 9 for 10 weeks. In past years, such classes as physical education for men and women, comptometer, typing, sewing and Americanization were offered.

Legislature Defeats Hancock Delegate's Food Tax Proposal

Hancock County's member of the House of Delegates and a state senator from Weirton today introduced 2 bills to the 53th session of the West Virginia Legislature in Charleston.

An amendment submitted by Miss Calbie Tsapis, Democrat, to provide a permanent sales tax rate

Land Of Opportunity Proposed On Car Tag

A resolution was introduced in the House of Delegates Thursday asking that West Virginia's auto license plates carry the slogan, "Land of Opportunity."

B. T. Given of Webster County introduced the bill in Charleston. The suggestion slogan is the same as has been used for the past 15 years by the state of Arkansas.

of 3 per cent, with food purchased for home consumption exempt from the tax entirely, was defeated by a 62-17 vote.

Miss Tsapis is serving her second term in the House of Delegates from Hancock County.

She was named Thursday as chairman of the Counties, Districts and Municipalities Committee of the House. The appointment was announced by House Speaker Julius Singleton.

Miss Tsapis and Harry L. Buch, Republican from Ohio County, offered the food exemption as a means of easing the effect of a sales tax hike on business in countries bordering on other states.

At the same time, they said, the exemption would help low income groups.

Buch quoted the state tax commissioner as reporting that the Northern Panhandle counties of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio are losing $7.5 million a year in grocery business to the state of Ohio, just across the river.

William Tompos of Weirton, state senator from the 1st Senatorial District, and Jack R. Nuzum of Randolph County both introduced bills which would change present law permitting utilities to put higher rates into effect under bond and subject to refund 120 days after the rates are filed if the PSC has not entered final orders in the cases.

Tompos proposed that a utility be prohibited from putting new rates into effect until the PSC actually has entered the final rate order.

Bill Would Strengthen Court In Adoption Cases

CHARLESTON — Both houses of the West Virginia Legislature today received a bill which, overall would strengthen the hand of the courts in adoption proceedings.

Prepared under the direction of between-sessions study committees, the bill was introduced in the Senate by President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, and in the House by Speaker Julius W. Singleton Jr., D-Monongalia.

Meanwhile, Singleton sponsored another interim committee bill in the House — one to give the state a new Records Management and Preservation of Essential Records Act.

THE REVIEW

not throw roadblocks into the path of the incoming administration.

Barron last Tuesday proposed temporarily increasing the consumers' sales tax to 3 per cent on purchases over $1 to provide funds for a crash program to provide jobs. Bills to carry out his proposal have been in the Legislature since Wednesday.

If the Democratic leadership in the House cannot muster the necessary four-fifths majority to get the rules suspended, then the measure must be held over until next week.

Four-fifths is what it takes to suspend the constitutional rule requiring a bill to be read on three separate days. In the first two days of the legislative session which opened Wednesday, three attempts to suspend the rule on the sales tax plan failed in the House. The closest lacked six votes of the needed 80.

The bills would raise the consumers' sales tax rate to 3 per cent on purchases of $1 and over through Aug. 31. After that, the present 2-per-cent rate would be in effect again.

It is estimated the temporary boost would yield $7.5 million. Barron wants the money to finance emergency public works projects to give jobs to the unemployed.

Both houses adopted some amendments, mostly technical, yesterday. But all attempts to change the bills basically were beaten by big margins.

3 District Men Held In Probation Violation

Three city men are being held at Lisbon for violation of probation and are to be turned over to probation officers for action.

Jailed Wednesday were William E. Price, 25, of 6th Ave., LaCroft; David Moore, 22, of 3rd St. and James Flowers, 20, of Fairview St.—all on probation for previous offenses.

A parole officer questioned the trio yesterday and has filed a report with state officers who will order a disposition.

They were taken into custody by sheriff's deputies early Wednesday morning — one in a car on the Washingtonville - Columbiana Rd. and the other two walking near Leontia. Their absence from home at night apparently was in violation of terms of probation.

OHIO MOTORISTS: Good News About Auto Insurance

with two remarkable new benefits for good drivers who qualify

1. New Good Driver Discount—Allstate, long famous for low rates, now offers a new merit-rating plan that enables good drivers to earn lower rates—and with these features. Allstate's plan, unlike most other plans, carries no penalty for traffic violations. Also, accidents which entitle you to settlements under your collision or medical payments coverages do not cause your premium to be increased. The only accidents which raise your rates are those which require payment of $50 or more to "the other guy" under your liability coverage.

2. New Written Guarantee—Now you are assured that, after your liability insurance has been in force for 90 days, it will not and cannot be cancelled by us for a period up to 5 years, even if you are unlucky enough to have one or more accidents, except for certain conditions and irresponsible acts described below.

These are the only conditions under which Allstate's exclusive guarantee of noncancellation of auto liability insurance does not apply or can be withdrawn:

If the policyholder or any member of his household is convicted or forfeits bail for: driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs; hit-and-run driving; vehicular homicide; car theft; driving while license is suspended or revoked; or making false statements in driver's license application. If the insured makes false statements in his insurance application, or fails to assist the company in defending him against another person's liability claim. If the policyholder fails to pay the premium when due, or ceases to reside or register his car in Ohio.

This new plan applies only to individually owned private passenger cars. It is not available to Assigned Risks.

The cost of this insurance depends on the accident history of those insured under the policy and the rates in effect at the time the premium is computed at each renewal.

May we help you?

DiSalle On Local Spending

Gov. DiSalle has hit the nail on the head so hard with the right hammer declaring that Ohio should not be a tax collector for local government that even Washington tax collectors may be impressed.

"Give local governments the tools to raise their own finances and they will be in a better position to measure the services they can and will give," says the governor of Ohio. Most of Ohio taxpayers will agree.

Yet many of them will do an about-face and plead with Washington for more of the federal government's tax collections to bail them out.

Gov. DiSalle's own Democratic party has been an enthusiastic supporter of the hand-out plan.

Here in Ohio, where people have working knowledge of what happens to their money, there never has been a clear understanding that something like 40 per cent of everything paid to the state is pumped back to the localities, minus handling charges and "breakage."

FOR EVERY 50 MILES that money gets away from the place where it is collected, however, there is about a 2 per cent decline in responsibility for the way it's spent. This also works the other way around.

For every 50 miles that taxing gets away from the place where the taxes are paid there is a 2 per cent decline in control over the way taxes are levied.

In Washington, a proposal to levy more taxes can go through Congress a-whooping with no one to say anything against it but a gaggle of professional lobbyists.

In Columbus, a proposal to levy more taxes gets past the Legislature only after everybody and his brother have had their say and every member of the Legislature has been breathed on by several dozen red-hot constituents.

But back home, a proposal to levy more taxes must be threshed out, fought over and fine-tooth-combed fore and aft until everybody is sick of hearing about it. If it can be passed at all, its passage is permitted only to get it out of the way so other business can be taken up.

EVEN IF LOCAL government had all the tools, there still would be difficulty in raising more revenue. Gov. DiSalle is right when he says local government is in a better position to measure what it needs to do and is willing to do. There would be a net reduction in public spending if more money to be spent locally had to be collected locally.

It is not strange, though, that this thing which seems so clear in Ohio is not clear at all in Washington, where there is a never-ending itch to scratch up more revenue so more gravy can be ladled back to the states and localities?

Only one conclusion can be reached.

Washingtonians like to feel the money and get satisfaction of doling out money where it will do the most political good. If they destroy local initiative and local responsibility in the process, that's all right with them. They are devotees of big government—the bigger the better.

But in Columbus, where the taxpayers must live closer to taxpayers, there's no fun in feeling money. It's all grief. All the politicians get out of handling it is sour looks for not distributing it to suit localities and individuals within the localities.

Gov. DiSalle, therefore, is in favor of letting Ohioans keep their money at home in the first place. No wonder they haven't asked him to come to Washington.

Red Necks In The Caribbean

A story in the New York Times by Paul P. Kennedy about large-scale preparations in Guatemala to fight Cuba has reddened necks throughout North, South and Central America.

Three things about the story were neck-reddeners:

1. The reported scale of the preparations and their nature—large numbers of guerrilla fighters trained in commando tactics. These are not ordinary defense measures.

2. Participation in the preparations by the United States.

3. Disclosure of the information, which has been confirmed by Guatemala and not denied by the U.S. State Department, while Premier Castro is whipping Cuba into a frenzy of fear about imminent invasion by the United States.

It looks like another instance of the "cover story" that doesn't cover anything, the story in this case being that nothing is going on in Guatemala but routine military precautions.

There can be no such thing as a routine procedure that reaches the public as a surprise. The now well-known U2 flights over Russian territory had become routine to everybody, except the millions who knew nothing about them, including almost everybody in the United States.

Here again the surprise is not that the United States is taking Castro at his word about being an enemy of the United States but that the United States had not discounted the shock of disclosure in advance by telling the U.S. public what it was doing.

The fact is that most Americans expect their government to be doing everything in its power to let the gas out of the Communist balloon in the Caribbean. They wouldn't be shocked to learn that the current naval maneuvers in the Caribbean are no more "routine" than never-ending maneuvers in the Mediterranean. The point is that the naval maneuvers have been announced. No one can be shocked by them. But the military exercises in Guatemala were not announced.

Castro will be furious, which is to the good. But it is not to the good that so many Americans now are wondering what they will find out next about their government's security measures.

If-The-Ship-Comes-In Budgeting

Word is being passed around that the presidential budget which will be submitted by the outgoing Eisenhower administration will be balanced. This will leave a good taste in the downturned mouths of harassed taxpayers.

But the good taste may last no longer than it takes for the incoming Kennedy administration to set up new figures. There is no official form for presidential budgets — no prescribed pattern — no black-and-white accounting.

One of the commonest dodges is to declare that the budget will be balanced if Congress votes for certain additional taxes, which is the same as declaring that if the ship comes in there will be money to throw away.

ANOTHER common dodge in budget-making is to overestimate revenue and underestimate spending — to predicate the whole thing on boom conditions in the economy and parsimony in Congress.

Or, if the idea is to hornswozzle Congress by claiming poverty, the trick is to underestimate revenue and overestimate spending, so as to show a deficit, thereby putting pressure on Congress for higher taxes.

These and a dozen other gimmicks in budget-making have undermined confidence in the federal government's fiscal prudence. Here is another spot where an administration with a new broom and the will to use it could clear up some untidy popular doubts.

Budget-making has got out of reach of popular comprehension. Not only the figures in multiple billions are baffling but the concept of a federal budget, itself.

The only way taxpayers can comprehend their government's money problems is in terms of their own problems. They cannot understand such complexities as the difference between authorizations and appropriations in Congress, continuing commitments, carryover funds, special accounts, deficiency appropriations and — what is most baffling of all — why someone else can use another set of figures and say they are even more reliable than the first set.

PERHAPS THESE puzzlements cannot be helped. But every bank and every corporation in the country has concentrated in recent years on clearer statements of fiscal position, on the assumption that comprehension and confidence go hand in hand.

The federal government should work in the same direction. The alternative is to let the U.S. public grow more confused, until it will understand nothing about public spending, except that it always goes up faster than revenue and the difference is what government clips off the spending power of dollars.

The Once Over

Show world's star's assistance in wiping out Democratic election debt is worthy of warm applause. But it may be hard to be sure whether John F. Kennedy or Frankie Sinatra is being inaugurated. Scores of top entertainers, including Ethel Merman, will perform the night before the ceremonies. With such talent in prelude, the march to the White House could need an appeal to stay for the second feature.

After the all-star spectacular, Mr. Kennedy might need an agent to see that he gets a four-year booking for his own production "The Unsinkable JFK."

Hollywood and Broadway, when they shoot the works, can make a mere incoming presidential look like casting office job seeker looking for minor role in revival of "Easy Lyne." Up to now, only a new president sat up for the critics' reviews, but this time, show biz stars will join him. Could it be that Shakespeare will be revised to read, "All the world's a stage and all the inaugurals merely comparative amateur nights?"

Tickets to the Sinatra "Wipe Out the IOU"

By H. I. Phillips

will cost from $100 to $1,000. The $100 tickets will be for the Republicans; $200 will get a seat behind a post for Democrats of questionable reliability at the polls; $500 to $1,000 will get seats for men who don't have to work for pioneer spirit and new frontiers on a close budget.

Never before has the theater been so linked to an inaugural. Mr. Kennedy will go down in history as a President who swiftly did the impossible: closed an Ethel Merman musical hit after one performance.

CASTRO WILL LET CUBANS play on big league U.S. teams. Okay, if this doesn't lead to the announcement, "Game called in the third on account of demand that every Cuban come home because of imminent invasion hysteria."

Big hotels in Havana now have guns mounted on roofs. Only troops occupy them and presumably ask for a room with a bazooka and a good view of the hysteria. ("Call room service and ask for a tray of fresh ammunition.")

Inaugural Early Birds

Union Boycotts Japanese Imports

By Victor Riesel

This is a short tale about shirts. In 1952 a Japanese manufacturer had an idea. He would try to sell some shirts in the U.S. He sold 24 — two dozen — that year.

Nobody did anything. No one wanted to hurt the recovery of our new-found ally in the Orient. Finally, in each of the past two years, the Nipponese have sold more than a million dozen in our country. That's a long way from 24 shirts.

That's what troubles industrial and labor leaders in the field. More and more textile goods are pouring in. Not only shirts but cloth, suits, coats, pajamas—everything in men's wear.

What now is worrying labor, business and government leaders is the danger that the "soft goods" will swamp our industry which employs 1.2 million men and women in cities such as this one, and in New England and in the South.

IT'S THE MEMORY of those 24 shirts which haunts men such as Jack Potofsky, leader of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union. He knows now how they grew and grew. Like Alice in Wonderland after she took that growing medicine.

Recently Potofsky noted that in 1959 foreign manufacturers dumped 11 million square yards of woven wool cloth into the U.S. In just one year this figure sprouted to some 18 million square yards.

The Japanese were also sending in tens of thousands of finished suits. These sell at a fifth of the cost of an American made garment. Potofsky and his colleagues finally announced last week that their union followers would not handle this imported cloth.

This means that amalgamated members will not cut or sew it into finished garments.

This, it seems to me, is the first international strike of its kind. If the Japanese won't voluntarily restrict their sales in the U.S., then the union will hit the Nipponese where it hurts them most—right in their own textile industry—with a boycott.

But it isn't all that easy. There are more international complications than meet the eye of our people here.

A BOYCOTT of the Japanese textile industry will hurt 300,000 workers there. They are members of a union called the Zensen. This is affiliated with the Zenro—a pro-American coalition of 15 unions.

Zenro leaders are practically the only real labor friends we have in that part of the world.

They split from the pro-Communist, left wing, Socialist riotous Sohyo federation in 1954. It was the Sohyo which put its people into the streets of Tokyo last year.

It was Sohyo and its Communist allies who turned back the President of the United States. Recently Rep. Herbert Zelenko D-N.Y., went to Japan on a government mission.

He found the Zensen and Zenro people friendly but perplexed. When they all met with the U.S. Embassy officials, Zelenko was questioned by Tadanobu Usami, deputy secretary general of the Textile Workers Union. He wanted to know why American labor leaders object to imports of Japanese textiles. Zelenko replied that labor and management had identity of interests because low cost competition was forcing U.S. plants to close or move abroad to low wage countries.

ZELENKO sort of silenced his Japanese questioner by asking in turn how the Nipponese would feel if Japanese manufacturers moved their plants to Hong Kong because wages there were even more abysmal than in Japan.

Obviously there is a middle road to survival for both countries. And, of course, the British have discovered the path.

British "spinners" have devised the Lancashire Agreement. The English textile manufacturers protect themselves from Hong Kong competition by restricting the amount of Crown Colony can dump on the home islands.

This is an adjustable pact. If business at home is not good, the Hong Kong firms are permitted fewer sales.

Such a pact can be worked out by the secretary of commerce-to-be, Luther Hodges and the foreign competition. It had better be. Remember those 24 shirts.

Schoolmaster's Dream

By Raymond Moley

The plan for federal aid to schools submitted to the President-elect by a "task force" headed by Dr. Frederick Hovde is really a schoolmaster's dream.

It is a bundle of wants from school and college administrators for almost every purpose for which there is need for money. It embodies the idea, current among schoolmen and their pressure groups, that there is nothing wrong with education that more money won't cure.

It should be noted that this is not a demand from the many school boards over the country, which have had the painful responsibility for looking after the education of their constituents' children. It comes from the professionals hired by boards and trustees to operate the schools.

I am concerned here only with that part of the Hovde pork barrel which has to do with the public schools.

That part of the program needs the most careful examination by Congress and the nation's taxpayers, because it proposes an entirely new departure in the expansion of the federal power which has been rejected by many congresses in the past.

THE TOTAL sum is staggering. So much so that even the man who asked for the report, President-elect Kennedy, and his designee for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare greeted it with raised eyebrows.

The major objections to this plan and to federal aid for the public schools generally are two. Such aid has not proved to be and is not now necessary.

The amount proposed, great as it is, is small in comparison with what is necessary to maintain our public schools. It is not aid that the schoolmasters want; it is control.

President Eisenhower has at various times proposed aid for school construction. His figures of construction shortages have been periodically provided for him by the bureaucracy of the Office of Education, which has been altogether too greatly under the influence of the National Education Association and other pressure groups.

The figure of school classroom shortages projected five years ago for 1961 has more than been met without federal aid. And the figures of classroom shortages submitted from time to time by the Eisenhower administration have over and over been proved to be in error.

That is largely because the so-called "needs" have been furnished not by school boards but by school administrators.

If any human being is asked what he needs, he will respond by telling what he wants. There is a difference between "wants" and "needs," as we all know.

According to figures on school costs given by various expert groups and individuals, our public schools cost about $14 billion in 1960. Most of those estimates were about $12 billion in 1958.

IN THE YEARS ahead to 1969-70, the estimated need will be for about $1 billion more per year. These figures are carefully recorded with an abundance of supporting data in a very important new book, "Taxes for the Schools," by Roger Freeman, who two years ago published another book, "School Needs in the Decade Ahead."

At that time, his powerfully stated case against federal aid earned him violent attacks from the NEA but in the ensuing controversy Freeman sustained his case. His new book will no doubt precipitate another debate.

If we consider that the cost of public education will rise to $24 billion by 1970, the amount proposed by Hovde, $14.46 billion annually, while a considerable burden on the federal budget, would only be a small amount in school support.

The previous demands for federal aid have been much less. The Senate last year passed a school aid bill for $700 million for two years, and the House passed a bill for $600 million. The matter died in the Rules Committee, largely because the House itself was not willing to act at all.

Thus, what is called federal aid is really only a token. But it is what the school administrators have always wanted — a foot in the door to ultimate control.

That, therefore, is the issue before Congress and the people of the country. Do they want education to be controlled by the professional educators or by the parents of the children who are to be educated?

Pressure-Politics Lie Behind 'Rights' Debate

All the talk about changing the rules to stop filibusters in the Senate or to prevent committees from bottling up legislation in the House, might appear on the surface to be a part of a very weighty problem with deep-seated cleavages that reflect high purposes in the public interest.

Actually, back of the whole thing is a good deal of pressure-group politics and the desire of members of the Senate, for example, to make it appear back home, especially in the more populous states in the North, that they are battling hard for civil rights.

The Senate has voted — as it has done again and again in the past — to send the proposals for changing the rules on filibustering back to a committee for study. This means that, when it comes up at the end of the present session, the new idea is to require only a 60 per cent instead of 66 2-3 per cent vote to cut off debate. Maybe there will be a compromise along these lines but it is doubtful.

The reason for all the furor about changes in the filibustering rules is that there is an artificial pressure to get more civil rights legislation. The theory is that only the southerners are blocking it but there are western senators, many of them Republicans, who recognize the danger in enacting legislation that takes away from the states more and more of their rights.

The Republican party has only 35 members in the Senate, and they were divided 18 to 15 in the vote to send the new proposals back to a committee for study — just as were the Democrats, who voted 32 to 31 on the same issue. So it isn't a partisan matter.

The hullabaloo about filibustering is, on its face, rather hypocritical. It is made to appear, for example, that only the conservatives are interested in maintaining the rules that allow filibusters.

Actually, many of the so-called liberals have used the filibustering privilege far more than their opponents. They would probably be very much distressed if unlimited debate were really abandoned and gag rule were imposed. The very essence of true liberalism is that free speech must be allowed to run its course.

IN THE HOUSE of Representatives, the situation is somewhat different. The powerful Rules Committee, for example, can for all practical purposes keep legislation from getting to the floor of the House, but a substantial majority can always discharge the committee from consideration of the bill and force it on to the floor for action.

The device of "packing the court" is not a new one in Washington and it looks as if the pressure groups may be able this time to persuade a House majority to "pack" the House Rules Committee so as to permit certain legislation to move more quickly through that body.

In the long run, the precedent will rise to plague the so-called liberals, because the majority may not always be as friendly to some of the causes now being espoused and what is done one year becomes an example for a majority to follow in another year.

"Packing" committees is not a creditable performance but evidently in this at least the pressure groups are to have their way.

The Glamor Faded

By Truman Twill

I have just skipped through a discussion of a problem bothering newspapers — the acute shortage of new manpower.

Journalism graduates, it is pointed out, can have their choice of places to begin. There aren't enough to go around. Particularly men. More women are going to journalism schools these days than men.

It takes both kinds to run a newspaper, the same as it takes both kinds to run a world. But neither the world nor a newspaper can get along on women alone, a point that is a source of comfort to us residual males.

One thing brought out in the discussion especially interested me. One reason newspapers are whistling for people who can do their work is lack of information about newspaper shops as places to work.

Guidance counselors who talk to young people in high schools have no conception of newspaper employment to put before the students they counsel. They know next to nothing about it, so they rarely encourage young men and women to make their pitch in that direction.

This coincides with a line of curiosity I have been tiptoeing along recently. Why did my own sons, who have heard about newspapering since they were old enough to ask for candy, decide to do something else? I think I know the answer.

Newspapering in their generation ceased to be glamorous and became another functional occupation, like meter-reading, roofing and gas-pumping. In my generation, boys — and girls — wanted to work for newspapers so bad they'd work for nothing, and sometimes that's about what they collected.

Today, pay scales are better and fringe benefits are thicker, but it's just another way to earn a living. The glamor has moved across the street to the television studios. The way was paved for the transfer by radio. When people began to idolize Graham McNamee they quit idolizing the shadowbodies of anonymous journalism.

This was one of the best things that could have happened to newspapers and their employees because it took them out of show business and put them into the communications business. To the degree that journalism is going to come to maturity in this second half of the 20th century, the growing-up will be goosed along by realization.

This has been done from time to time. But in the House, as in the Senate, there is an effort being made to show the pressure groups that the champions of civil rights and big welfare spending are active and aggressive in their behalf.

The spectacular attack on Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., who has been threatened with a purge — the loss of his committee post — because he supported independent presidential electors, has not been approved by most of the members of the House.

Indeed, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, who is to be chairman of the House Committee on Labor, bolted the Democratic ticket in 1956 and voted for President Eisenhower's reelection. Again and again, members have said they should not be punished on the floor of the House of Representatives for trying to reflect the views of their constituents.

When it comes to the size of the committees, this is a matter over which the House has jurisdiction and it is, in a sense, impersonal. The House can enlarge a committee and "pack" it with members favorable to the desires of the majority. That's what is now being proposed in the House of Representatives in order to override the chairman of the Rules Committee, Howard W. Smith, of Virginia.

Mr. Smith is one of the ablest members of Congress and the only objection that his opponents have to him is that he does not go along with radical proposals.

It is ironical to find liberals who so often pride themselves on their interest in free speech, trying to punish a member who holds views opposite to theirs.

BY "PACKING" the committees of the House with a majority who favor the point of view desired by a particular bloc, the objective in cutting the power of the committee chairman is, to a certain extent, achieved. But it is still unexplained why those who believe they have a majority in the House of Representatives appear to disregard their right to petition for a vote and override the rulings of the chairman of a committee.

The device of "packing the court" is not a new one in Washington and it looks as if the pressure groups may be able this time to persuade a House majority to "pack" the House Rules Committee so as to permit certain legislation to move more quickly through that body.

In the long run, the precedent will rise to plague the so-called liberals, because the majority may not always be as friendly to some of the causes now being espoused and what is done one year becomes an example for a majority to follow in another year.

"Packing" committees is not a creditable performance but evidently in this at least the pressure groups are to have their way.

tion that radio and television cannot be bested at show business.

This doesn't mean newspapers have been sidelined. It meant only that they have lost a sideline. Henceforth, they will have to stick to their last, which is the processing and distribution of printed words and pictures — the graphic presentation of history as it happens.

If their old man had worn a funny hat with a press card in it and had come home every night with tingling tales of wild adventure and steaming scoops, a la show business, my sons might have decided that journalism was a golden life.

Instead, their old man came home exhausted from struggling with stubborn words and punctuation, ideas that wouldn't jell and points of view that turned out cross-eyed. When they came to see him at his work, they had the air of kids being taken on a tour through an institution where the inmates are well-meaning but deserving of pity because they didn't go into the petroleum business, instead.

In any event, they never mentioned newspaper business as something they might get into instead of trouble, and I offer this as part of the discussion of newspapering's shortage of apprentice manpower. It lost its glamor, like the movie stars we worshipped when we were young.

A full-grown electric eel can discharge up to 600 volts of electricity. It can produce electricity for long periods without tiring.

A high-power rifle cartridge theoretically is one having a muzzle velocity of more than 2,000 feet per second.

80 At Midland Plan Meeting

set aside for the shopping center. It would increase open spaces, additional off-street parking and loading facilities. Traffic would circulate around the center.

The population of 1960 was essentially the same as in 1950 and in the future will be relatively the same. He said Midland has an aging population. Most are over 35.

The population is dense with 61 persons per acre compared to 27 to 31 for similar boroughs. This is a reason for people moving out, he said.

HE SAID the borough is one of few that have had a zoning ordinance in effect since 1934. This has kept residences separated from industry.

Concerning school facilities, he said the high school is good. There is a new gymnasium and new offices. All three elementary schools are over 40 years old. They are maintained good but still are not up to modern standards. All three are on small lots and each needs three acres.

A consolidated, two-story, 24-classroom building on an enlarged 7th St. School site should be considered. It would take 7½ acres instead of 9 and would be easier to operate, heat and clean and in walking distance from either end of the borough. It would be cheaper to build the one larger school than three new ones.

HE SAID Midland should be proud of its recreation facilities—new gym, swimming pool and athletic field and use of the borough building for teen-age dances.

"Few communities the size of Midland have a swimming pool and 'it shows what community spirit can do over the years.'"

He said thought should be given to an ice skating rink as the same dressing facilities could be used for swimming.

He pointed out the possibility of reserving the upper slopes of the borough for recreation areas.

He said public buildings and institutions are good but off-street parking is needed near the borough building.

Midland is too small to operate a hospital. The cost would be high, he said.

He said an excellent feature of the borough is its civic center of borough building, high school and Lincoln Park. The plan protects it.

HE SAID the borough is to be congratulated on the new sewage plant now being built. He said sanitary sewers are adequate but some storm sewers and catch basins tie into them and this extra water increases the cost of operation.

The water department is adequate but it depends on Crucible's future water needs.

Wogom told the group that "the future of the borough is in people's hands." He said Council had foresight and appointed a planning commission, has obtained the plan and "is looking to you for the go-ahead to consider aspects."

THE NINE principal recommendations in the plan are:

1. The borough should provide funds for the planning and zoning commission to promote a continuous and technically supervised planning program.

2. Carry out an urban renewal program for the future redevelopment or rehabilitation of the central business district as a modern shopping center designed to serve at least the Borough and its adjacent area. Adjacent substandard housing areas should also be redeveloped with modern apartment dwellings, possibly low-rent public housing.

3. Relocation of State Route 68 through the borough.

4. Joint planning of the planning area on the part of Midland, Industry and Ohio Township.

5. CREATION of a combined community council-regional planning commission consisting of key leaders of Midland, Glasgow, Industry and Ohio Township.

6. Smoke control by the creation of a smoke control bureau probably on the county level.

7. Adoption of a capital improvements program, land subdivision ordinance, new zoning ordinance and new building ordinance.

8. Economic base diversification by attracting new manufacturing industries to the borough.

9. Construction of a new consolidated 7th St. elementary school.

He said there are state and federal funds available for rehabilitation and pointed to the "Golden Triangle" at Pittsburgh.

UNDER federal and state financial aid in urban renewal, the borough pays only one-sixth.

There are some 18 projects listed in the six-year program with total projects amounting to $4,703,000 with the borough paying $303,000 and the school district $5,000.

School finances were not discussed at the meeting but the plan says the district should be able to eliminate its deficit financing and provide about $50,000 a year for capital improvements after its tax base has been adjusted. It says a one per cent wage tax should be levied in 1961 to defray loss of machinery tax funds.

"It also appears that a raise in real property levy of one mill in 1963 and one mill in 1964 will be necessary to prevent the further need of deficit financing and to provide necessary capital improvements," the report says.

CONCERNING borough finances, the plan says the borough should be able to spend about $300,000 in pay-as-you-go monies over the next 6 years for capital improvements. Due to the present large percentage of bonding capacity now being used, it is felt that any further borrowing at this time would be unwise.

"It is felt, however, that after 1964, due to the present rate of repayment on the present bonds, the borough could safely invest $100,000-$150,000 in bonds to ward needed capital improvements."

"The borough should increase its real estate levy 2 mills in 1963 to help defray the loss of machinery tax. A $10 per capita tax is also proposed to help defray the loss of machinery tax and to provide additional funds for capital improvements."

"The borough should continue its expenditure for planning and place an additional $2,500 in its budget this year for preparation of an urban renewal application to the federal government for its first urban renewal project," the plan suggests.

Stolen Station Wagon Abandoned In Wreck

LISBON — Police continued today investigation of the theft and wrecking of a Lisbon area man's station wagon Wednesday night.

Officers said the 1956 vehicle owned by Robert Huffman of R.D. 5 was stolen from near the Hawkland Bowling Alley while Huffman was bowling, and was found wrecked along Logtown Rd. northwest of here. The vehicle was a total loss, police said.

Subdivision Rules Adopted

A land subdivision ordinance establishing regulations for subdividing and developing land was approved Thursday night by the Midland Council.

The ordinance also lists regulations for the construction, opening and dedication of streets, sanitary and storm sewers and water mains.

It prescribes the method of administration and enforcement, sets the fees and costs and details the penalties for failing to comply.

Council also approved a resolution asking Beaver County commissioners to undertake and develop "a comprehensive and energetic plan" for Civil Defense.

An ordinance vacating a portion of 8th St. from Virginia Ave. also was approved.

Council also decided to send a letter of congratulations to Mrs. Dorothy Spivak and her staff for the manner in which the Youth Center was operated last year.

SALINEVILLE — A 47-year-old district man, arrested with 2 guns in his pockets, was fined $100 and costs by Mayor Kenneth Leishman Wednesday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Kelly Beverly of R. D. was arrested by Deputy Marshal Tom Wilson when found in the American Legion with a .22-caliber pistol and a .38-caliber revolver. Beverly said he was taking the weapons to Leetonia to sell them.

Mayor Leishman suspended $75 of the fine and placed Beverly on probation.

under control of the Ohio Department of Commerce.

Companion measures offered by Rep. Edmund G. James, R-Noble, Thursday offered cities two new avenues of taxation through which they could solve some of their own money problems.

One of the James measures would permit cities to levy a special tax—as high as 3 per cent—on gas, electric, telephone and water bills. The other would permit cities to require a special auto license—in addition to the state's annual $10 fee—of up to $5 a year.

James came up with similar proposals in the Democratic legislature of 1959, but they got nowhere. The 1959 legislature adopted a $2.50 state license fee increase, but Gov. Michael V. DiSalle vetoed it.

Sen. John W. Brown, R-Medina, former interim governor, came up with an eyebrow raiser. He proposed the state prohibit the use of any so-called truth serum to obtain information in connection with obtaining convictions, reprieves, commutations and pardons.

The measure obviously was directed at Gov. DiSalle's recent commutation of Edythe Klumpp's death sentence after she told her story, under the influence of sodium amylal, of the death of Mrs. Louise Bergen in 1958.

Brown proposes a minimum $500 fine or up to 30 days in jail, or both, for anyone who administers a truth serum in connection with criminal cases or for anyone who causes such a serum to be used.

That Was No Swan—It's Missing Goose

That graceful "swan" spotted on the Ohio River near Babbs' Island this week probably is a missing goose, Mrs. John Quick of near Newell reported today.

Mrs. Quick said two 6-month-old geese flew away from her home 2 miles south of Newell about 3 weeks ago, and only one returned.

Mrs. Quick of 6th St. Rd. said the one goose landed on the home of Mrs. Helen McClain of Carolina Ave., Chester, later flying off past the Chester Lumber Co. and had not been seen since.

Mrs. Quick returned last week from a 10-day visit in Florida with friends.

Cleveland Fined

Beaver Students Told Cleveland School Acceptable

George VanHorne, executive head of Beaver Local Schools, has advised a group of students interested in attending the Carnegie College at Cleveland that the school is acceptable as a vocational institution.

Because Beaver Local officials were not familiar with the school's status and questioned some recruitment policies, VanHorne recently visited the institution.

He said the some 500 students there are apparently receiving a proper education in the 3 training areas on the school curriculum—medical secretary, X-ray technician and biological chemist.

VanHorne emphasized the school is a vocational institution, and its courses are for only one year. Students attend classes six hours a day for five days a week, and receive instruction through lectures, demonstrations and laboratory work.

Most of the instructors do not have degrees, he said, but have had training in their fields. There is a job placement service.

As a result of his talks with the administration, faculty and students of the school, VanHorne said he believes the school is acceptable for a limited vocational training program.

The extension and varied work of the Agricultural Extension Service in Columbiana County during 1960 is shown in the yearly summary released today by Floyd Lower, county extension agent.

Various activities in agriculture, home economics and youth work were conducted.

For the past several years, Columbiana County has ranked high in 4-H enrollment. In 1960, 1,007 girls and 645 boys belonged to 91 clubs. Some 2,502 projects were carried under the direction of 170 community leaders who served as advisors for the 1,652 members.

JAMES SKEELS was selected by the state awards committee as Ohio's outstanding dairy project member and received an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress. The county square dance team placed first in the State Fair Junior Division.

Two hundred and fifty 4-H members participated in the first evening grandstand show, "4-H showboat," at the county fair.

County 4-H'ers learned to speak before audiences while presenting technical information and over 122 members participated in county-wide competition in the safety speaking contest, health improvement contest and in agriculture and home economics demonstrations. Many more participated in local club contests as county contest delegates were selected. County winners participated in the Ohio State Fair contests.

TWO HUNDRED and fifteen attended junior and senior camp, 245 advisors attended the advisors' recognition banquet, 250 members participated in the evening grandstand show, 500 local club officers attended the officers' training sessions, 525 members, advisors and parents attended the 4-H rally, 900 members participated in district and county Selection Days and 1,450 members exhibited at the County Fair.

Over 1,450 4-H'ers exhibited 1,850 completed projects at the County Fair.

County women also participated in a large number of activities during the past year, aside from their project work.

Two hundred and thirty enjoyed exhibits, at the annual county homemakers' Achievement Day.

EIGHTY GIRLS interested in college attended the "Careers in Home Economics Day" co-sponsored by the County Home Extension Council.

Area orchardmen learned of the newest and most productive orchard practices by participating in numerous meetings planned by the executive committee of the County Horticultural Society, with the assistance of the Agricultural County produces more apples than any other in Ohio.

The annual Soil and Crops Institute was well attended and 499 soil samples were analyzed by the state soil testing laboratory.

More than a fourth of all cropland in the county is operated with conservation practices developed by the Soil Conservation Service.

COLUMBIANA-Mahoning strawberry growers continued a plan providing for cooling and marketing of berries through the packing plant at Greenford. It will be used again this year.

Annual winter meetings and summer field meetings, planned by committees of producers, were held to provide information on the latest developments and recommended practices.

SEVERAL meetings and institutes were also held for dairymen and poultrymen.

Columbiana County is one of the leading potato producing counties in Ohio and area growers were kept informed by twilight meetings and institutes as well as by circular letters, news stories and demonstrations.

Butterfat testing of individual cows in 170 herds was conducted through the Columbiana - Mahoning Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Artificial breeding practices were followed with 51 per cent of all cows in the county.

Poultry producers attended the Columbiana - Mahoning Poultry Institute to learn of the newest developments.

These sessions were planned by a committee of producers with assistance of the agricultural office.

ONE HUNDRED farmers attended a dairy barn tour. Three county beekeepers meetings and a state meeting were held.

Plans and individual assistance were furnished by the extension service for many farmers on construction and remodeling of farm buildings.

Sheep were dipped in 17 flocks. Approximately 8,000 forest trees were planted. Seven beef herds participated in the beef progeny testing program of Ohio State University.

Columbiana County homemakers chose the Family Life Institute theme of "Let's talk it over."

SOME 317 homemakers were trained at 14 different meetings.

Some 225 homemakers in 12 township groups dabbled in finger paints while learning color principles.

The Columbiana County Adult Home Economics Extension program is governed by the Home Extension Council. Through the quarterly meetings of the Council, plus the meetings of the dozen sub-committees, the home economics program is planned and carried to 14 different local groups. During the past year, 70 local leaders were trained and presented subject material to more than 800 women through local group meetings.

DURING THE year one or more of the county extension workers attended 475 different meetings, and together made 1,388 farm and home visits, handled 1,622 office calls and over 3,568 phone calls; distributed over 10,200 bulletins and wrote 238 news articles.

Other members of the staff of agents include Don Myers, agent in agriculture; Joseph V. Burger, 4-H agent; and Miss Julia Shank, home economics agent.

Couple Is Held In Girl's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young couple was jailed without charge Thursday night in the death of a 1-year-old girl. The deputy coroner found evidence the child had been squeezed to death.

Vanessa Woods, daughter of Mrs. Sharon Woods Buford, 18, was dead when the mother and police took her to Lakeside Hospital Thursday. Mrs. Buford told doctors her daughter had had a cold for a week.

Detective Charlie Reynolds said police had listed the child's death as "probably natural," but when Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson made a preliminary investigation he found the infant had a torn liver and that other organs had been damaged.

Police records show that Bennie Buford, 20, the stepfather, was bound over to the grand jury last November for assaulting the baby. The couple denied knowledge of the child's injuries when questioned at city jail.

NBC Calls Off Comedy Skit On Kennedy, Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — A scheduled comedy skit on president-elect John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, has been scrapped by the National Broadcasting Co.

An eight-minute sketch had been written for comedian Art Carney's NBC-TV show next Tuesday, three days before Kennedy's inauguration as the nation's 35th president.

Carney was to have played the role of Kennedy and actress Lee Remick the part of Mrs. Kennedy. The setting was to have been the White House after Kennedy's inauguration.

An NBC spokesman said Thursday "We thought it would have been improper to have performers actually portraying the president and his wife. Our decision was based on a matter of good taste."

Leach Says Ohio Could Pay Jobless 28 More Months

CLEVELAND (AP) — Donald B. Leach, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, estimates Ohio could meet its payments to jobless workers for another 28 months.

The estimate, he said Thursday, is based on the conditions that no extended benefits are given those who have used up all their benefits and still are unemployed, and there is no change in the tax on employers that provides the money for the payments.

Leach said his estimate follows calculation by William Papier, the bureau's statistician, to the effect that:

"If collections continue to average $10 million a month and benefits $25 million, the fund will last 22 months. An automatic tax increase, now clearly in prospect because of the trend of reserves, would raise the average rate of tax on employers in 1962 by about a third. As a result payments would be extended to approximately 28 months."

Highway Plan Hit By Mayors

The Columbiana County Mayors' Association, meeting Thursday night at City Hall, went on record in favor of a proposal that would retain State Route 62 inside Columbiana County if the State Highway Department decides to go ahead with a relocation project.

The mayors, acting after hearing an explanation of tentative plans from Mayor Dean Cranmer of Salem, urged the state to accept one of three alternatives that was proposed by a consulting engineering firm.

The consultants recommended either of two new routes that would take the highway just north of Salem in Mahoning County, then connect with a proposed East Liverpool, Ashtabula Freeway.

The third route, which the consultant did not recommend, would take Route 62 south of Salem, also connecting with the river - lake road. Route 62 now runs east and west across northern Columbiana County, a short distance south of the Mahoning County line, and passes through downtown Salem.

Mayor Cranmer explained the three route proposals to the mayors.

Also attending were Mayors Bert Goodballet of East Liverpool, William Shoub of Wellsville, Dean Stockman of Lisbon, E. L. Calvin of Columbiana, Don Vignon of Washingtonville and Ernest Phillips of Summitville.

Nearly 1,500 persons were on hand to give the former Illinois governor and twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate an emotional farewell.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a working girl, 22, and have been supporting myself since I was 17. After graduation from high school I went to business school at night and now I hold a good position. I live at home and pay one-third of my salary for room and board. I have always been well behaved and have never been in any trouble whatever.

The problem is my father is so strict that I'm beginning to hate him. I got in last Saturday night (after a date) at 1 a.m. He greeted me at the front door in his bathrobe, wild with rage.

He ranted and raved in front of the fellow, grabbed my arm and shook me as if I were a small child. He said from now on if I'm not in the house by midnight he will bolt both doors from the inside. What is your advice?—HUMILIATED.

Dear Humiliated: A girl 22 should be able to stay out until 1 a.m. without interference. Tell your father you expect him to treat you as an adult from now on. If he locks you out of the house go to the YWCA for good.

Learned Too Late

Dear Ann: The letter from the man who didn't know whether to marry the young widow with the six active children prompts me to write my first letter to a newspaper.

I am a 65-year-old bachelor. When I was in my late 30s I met a lovely lady who was the mother of two teen-age girls. We fell in love and went together for 3½ years. We broke up because I was unwilling to assume responsibility for her children. The following year she married someone else.

Three years later the daughters I was afraid to help rear were married and on their own.

Now I'm a lonely old man who is paying a terrible price for his lack of faith and courage. I hope the bachelor who wrote to you has better sense than I had. I know what you get out of life exactly what you're willing to put into it. The fearful and faint-hearted always lose.—ALONE.

Dear Alone: You say you're 65? How about making friends with a woman in her 60s? Many women who are also alone would welcome a companion. Remember, "the faint-hearted and fearful always lose."

Confidentially

TO BIG QUESTION: Why don't you spend less time trying to learn the tricks of trade and concentrate on learning the trade? Your "clever" shortcuts have just about cut you out of your job.

TO SHOULD I TELL? Not until you're asked. But don't stand on one foot waiting.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Motor Motel Sites Under Consideration

CLEVELAND (AP)—Preston R. Tisch, president of the Loew Hotel Corp., says his firm has several sites under consideration for possible construction of a 300-to-400-room motor hotel in the downtown area. "We hope to be able to give our decision by May," Tisch said.

He also disclosed that Loew interests might extend to housing construction in urban renewal areas and that Loew's Theaters, Inc. would consider construction of movie theaters in Greater Cleveland shopping centers. Tisch is executive committee chairman of Loew's Theaters.

2 Brothers To Face Tests In Fatal Beating

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Psychiatric examinations have been ordered for two young brothers who admitted the fatal beating of a playmate last month.

Juvenile Court Judge Harry G. Cram stipulated Thursday that the boys, 11 and 9, be taken either to the Children's Diagnostic Center in Columbus or to the Child Guidance Clinic in Dayton. The brothers told police they bludgeoned 7-year-old Thomas Williams last month. His body was found in a Springfield street.

In England it is impossible for a person to be as much as 100 miles from the sea.

Truck Firm Recalls 75 Furloughed Men

CLEVELAND (AP)—The White Motor Co.'s White Truck Division announced Thursday it had recalled 75 furloughed employees in line with the firm's previously announced plan to rehire 200 men for production of the new line of White compact trucks.

The Eaton Manufacturing Co. also announced recall of 30 of the 85 workers it laid off last month. A company spokesman said the recall was due to adjustments in production schedules.

TV Show 'The Untouchables' Presented Despite Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten stations of the American Broadcasting Co. presented the taped TV show "The Untouchables" Thursday night despite a warning from the director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

At the end of the one-hour program came a network announcement that nothing in the show was intended to reflect on the integrity of the bureau.

In a telegram last Monday the bureau's director, James V. Bennett, told the 10 TV stations that his organization would oppose renewal of their broadcasting licenses if they showed the second installment of the two-part program called "The Big Train."

The theme—admittedly fiction—involved an abortive attempt by mobsters to free Al Capone from a transcontinental train transferring him and other prisoners from Atlanta to Alcatraz prison in San Francisco Bay. The show depicted a prison guard as being in cahoots with Capone.

Bennett, after the first installment, asked ABC to withhold the second until he had consulted with the Federal Communications Commission and the U.S. attorney general.

"To picture honorable and courageous officers as venal, and a public institution like the Atlanta Penitentiary as toadying to a character like Capone," said Bennett, "is an unforgivable public disservice."

Omar F. Elder Jr., vice president and general counsel of ABC, had wired a reply to Bennett in which he said he doubted anyone would interpret the unfavorable portrayal of one or two guards as "representative of, or cast any general reflection upon, the integrity of other members of that group."

In Santa Fe, N.M., Harold A. Cox, who was an official at Atlanta prison when Capone was moved from there, said he was "highly incensed" by the program.

Cox, now warden of New Mexico Penitentiary, said the program should be labeled as fiction if it was intended as such.

Watch The Game Or The Coach? ...

Watching the antics of a basketball coach on the sidelines during a game sometimes proves more interesting than the contest itself. Chuck Cronin, Review sports writer, describes such action at the Wellsville-Stuebenville Central game last Tuesday night.

Basketball coaches have been known to pull their hair and stomp the floor during a tight game, but Stuebenville Central Catholic Coach Francis Sebring has added a new twist.

Sebring, one of the most likeable coaches in the Ohio Valley, put on a performance that had some fans buzzing Tuesday night as his Crusaders whipped Wellsville.

Fans may recall the new state regulation which charges coaches with a technical foul if they are seen by the officials indicating to their team to call for a time-out.

Sebring's secret of skirting the rule is this:

He combs his hair whenever he feels the Crusaders need a conference at the bench!

During the Wellsville game which went right down to the wire, Sebring was seen combing his short hair and walking up and down the sidelines rather frantically.

Wade Explains Waterford Dates ...

A NOTE arrived from Horace Wade, managing director of Waterford Park, concerning the 1961 racing season at the local track.

Wade, who spends most of the winter in Coral Gables, Fla., said Waterford will open on July 3 and continue through Sept. 4. "The track will remain dark for four days and then re-open on Sept. 8 for another seven-day stay through Sept. 16. A late autumn meeting, Nov. 9-Dec. 9, is also scheduled.

"The latter dates are pretty much in the way of an experi-

Newt Oliver Near Springfield ...

REMEMBER Newt Oliver, who, with Bevo Francis a few years ago, was the talk of the basketball world. Newt, the former Wellsville and Rio Grande College coach, is now athletic co-ordinator for the Northwestern Local Schools near Springfield in southwestern Ohio.

Northwestern shows an 8-2 record and one of Oliver's former pupils, Wayne Wiseman, a teammate of Bevo's at Rio Grande, is head basketball coach there.

The Rio Grande team under Oliver compiled a winning streak of 40 games over a two-year period and Francis shattered all types of scoring records.

Sure Fire System ...

NOW THAT we have had a chance to see a majority of the District basketball teams a few predictions here and there are in order.

We have given up the theory of the "crystal ball." It has long disappeared somewhere in the Ohio River. We have come up with a new system, a fool-proof method to pick the winners of district high school games.

The system which took weeks to work out goes something like this. For example there are 13 games tonight and nine more Saturday, making a total of 22 contests.

We cut up slips of paper listing 44 teams and drop them into a hat two at a time and game by game and then pull out one for each contest and that's the winner.

This 'N That In Sports ...

THE BOOSTERS Club of East Liverpool High School has purchased a sign which cost $225 and will be placed over the outside doors at Memorial Auditorium. The Blue and White sign reads: "Home Of The Mighty Potters." Mary Ellen Stoffel is president of the Boosters Club.

WELLSVILLE High fans are reminded the Tiger game with unbeaten West Branch, formerly Goshen Union, will be played in Salem High's gymnasium Feb. 11.

The second Tiger-Stuebenville Central Catholic game Feb. 7 will be played in Beacom Memorial gym. The Stuebenville school's new fieldhouse is not completed as yet.

1,600 Tournery Tickets Will Be Sold To Public

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A scramble by the general public for Ohio high school state basketball tournament tickets was assured today.

W. J. McConnell, scholastic commissioner, said today only 1,600 "season" tickets would be available to the public for the March 24-25 classic in Ohio State's 13,500-seat arena.

McConnell mailed ticket application forms today to 3,184 head coaches, school administrators, tournament managers, etc., who are on the preferred list.

He also set up rigid rules, six of them, for the general public. After declaring that only season tickets, good for all four sessions, would be sold, McConnell said mail orders only would be honored.

The price has been boosted, for the first time in about 15 years. Two Class A games will be played the afternoon of Friday March 24, and two Class AA contests that evening. The Class A finals are Saturday afternoon, March 25, with the Class AA finals at night.

Here are the six rules for the general public as laid down by McConnell:

Winning Streaks New Fad To Local Hardwood Teams

EL At Toronto; Stanton Risks 8-0 Package

Winning streaks seem to be the new fad in district basketball these days. Consecutive victory strings are at stake on several fronts tonight and are among a long list of 13 games scheduled for Tri-State teams.

The longest is an 8-0 mark compiled by Stanton Local. Coach Harry Diehl's team will attempt to extend the string to nine at Smithfield tonight.

Next in the lineup of consecutive victories is Newell with seven straight following a red-hot performance against Salineville. The Vikings must overcome the home floor advantage of Weirton Madonna, their opponent tonight.

East Liverpool has a five-game streak to boast of, but the Toronto floor has not always been to the Potters' liking.

Just about everything is at stake in the Midland-Beaver game tonight. It may go a long way in deciding the Section 8 championship.

Beaver, the pre-season favorite to walk away with the title, has ripped through three league opponents already, while Midland shows a 2-0 record in Section play with victories over Freedom and New Brighton.

The same situation holds true in the Columbiana-Minerva game.

Columbiana has won its last three games and has lost only one all season.

Meanwhile, Minerva has won 31 straight games in the Tri-County League. Minerva's long winning streak in league play plus the championship itself could go right out the window tonight when the strong Clippers invade the Stark County gym.

A local flavor is added tonight when Chester and Wellsville get together on the Chester floor. The puzzling Wellsville team stands with a 3-3 record while Chester is laboring with a 2-5 mark.

Salem has conquered its last four opponents and will be looking for its fifth straight at Warren.

In other Tri-County League games, Louisville visits East Palestine, while Leetonia goes to Sebring and Poland invades winless Lisbon.

South Side has an eye on its second victory of the season when the Rams entertain South Fayette.

Fairfield-Waterford, which already has decided United once this season, will attempt to get back on the win trail tonight at Hanoverton with another encounter with the United five.

The Rebels, after winning five straight, dropped their first game of the season last Saturday night at McDonald.

Big 13-Game Card Set For Area Tonight

Plenty of action is on tap Saturday. Nine games follow up Friday's heavy card.

The feature in the immediate area will be Stanton Local at Beaver Local. Stanton, with a victory at Smithfield tonight, would go into the Beaver Local game sporting a 9-0 mark while Beaver Local is another one of the district teams which sports a four-game victory stint.

Reserve teams from the two schools will get the action underway at 7 p. m., with the varsity tilt getting underway about 8:30.

East Liverpool will be at Ashland Saturday for a battle with the tall Arrows.

The remainder of the nine-game card shows Springfield at Salineville, Canfield visiting United, Dennison St. Mary's at Fairfield-Waterford and Ravenna at Salem.

Three games are set in the Tri-County League with East Palestine meeting Poland, Minerva at Leetonia and Lisbon visiting Columbiana.

Unique Cubs Now Show 7 Coaches To Run Ball Club

CHICAGO (AP)—With the naming of two more coaches, the Chicago Cubs nearly have reached their magic number—8.

The additions are Charlie Grimm, a vice president of the club and three-time manager, and Verlon Walker, a Cub employee since 1948 who was manager of the Carlsbad, N.M., club of the Sophomore League last year.

The Cubs now have seven coaches, with another yet to be chosen to complete the unique field staff under owner P. K. Wrigley's plan of operating a baseball team this season without a designated manager.

Other coaches previously named are Rip Collins, Harry Craft, Eddie Himsel, Goldie Holt and Elvin Tappe.

All seven were at Thursday's mid-winter news party given by the Cubs. Announcements were made that: star shortstop Ernie Banks has signed at a boost in salary (reportedly, around $55,000); the Cubs will have rotating coaches instead of managers for their farm clubs in San Antonio and Wenatchee, Wash.; and that Richie Ashburn, as Cub player representative, will be an ex-officio member of the management corps.

Wrigley displayed some IBM statistical cards which will be used in the dugout to keep the coaches up to date on each of their players' average against the opposing pitcher as well as the Cub pitcher against individual opponents.

"This is a speed-up in a system we've been using," said Wrigley. "In the past, we had the figures all right, but by the time they could give us the dope, the ball game was over."

Wrigley insisted that a manager as such will not be named, adding that "a leader of the coaching staff" naturally will emerge automatically. This should come in spring training, he said.

It is estimated each coach is being paid $15,000 annually, excluding Grimm, who presumably receives the $20,000 vice president's pay.

Grimm said he would not be interested in becoming field manager, or head coach, or whatever title is used.

Berra Signs Contract For $50,000; Mantle, Maris, Skowron Holdouts

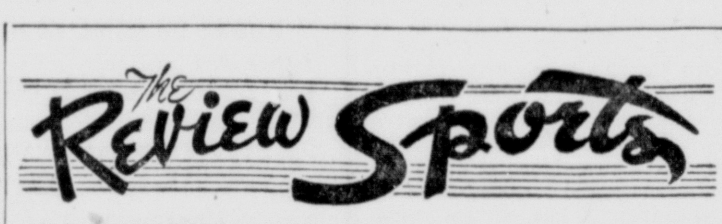

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It's too early to tag a "holdout" label on an unsatisfied player but the fact is that at least three top ranking members of the New York Yankees have rejected first offers and demanded more sizeable increases.

The three are Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Bill Skowron. Each has been given a raise over last year's salary. Each believes the raise is insufficient.

One who accepted a "slight increase" was Yogi Berra, who signed Thursday for just over $50,000, a sum he received last year for hitting .276 in 120 games. The only other Yankee to come to terms is reserve infielder Joe DeMaestri, who signed his 1961 contract two weeks ago.

"All the contracts have been

mailed out," said General Manager Roy Hamey. "There are no cuts for anybody. A few have been offered the same salaries but they are in the minority. We won the pennant and I don't see any reason why anybody particularly deserves a cut."

Perry, Tribe Not Far Apart Over Contract

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Perry, ace of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff last season, is having contract troubles.

He said at his home in North Carolina Thursday night that he would bring his contract—unsigned—when he comes to Cleveland to be honored as the Indians' "Man of the Year" at the Cleveland baseball writers' Ribs and Roast show Jan. 23.

He insisted, however, that he wouldn't become a holdout "or anything like that."

"I just want to sit down and talk it over with someone," said the lanky hurler. "Now that Frank Lane is gone, who do I see?"

Walter (Hoot) Evers, the Indians' farm chief, has been given the added responsibility of dealing with unsigned players in the absence of a general manager. Lane resigned as general manager to accept a similar position with the Kansas City Athletics.

Perry, given a sizable salary boost last year after winning 12 games as a rookie in 1959, is being offered another increase but not as large as he expected.

"Actually, we're not too far apart," the 24-year-old right-hander said.

Perry had an 18-10 record last season and tied Chuck Estrada of the Baltimore Orioles for the most victories in the American League.

The Indians announced Thursday night that signed contracts for 1961 have been received from three youngsters who will be making their first trip to a major league spring training camp. They are pitcher Sam McDowell, shortstop Gordon Lund and outfielder Ty Cline.

Midland Police Gain Second Win In Pistol League

The Midland Police claimed their second victory in the Beaver Valley Police Pistol League by firing 1,404 to Monaca's 1,392 Thursday on the Alquippa range.

Eli Bratich topped Midland with 293. Other scores were Mike Borto 283, Willie Anusich, 282, Vince D'rti 278 and Sam Ratkovich 268.

Chuck Werthman paced Monaca with 295.

The Midland Police will fire against the Crucible Police next Thursday on the Midland range.

NCAA Will Investigate College Hockey Imports

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has adopted a program which asks member institutions to certify once a year that their school is living up to NCAA rules.

This program and the initiation of a hockey investigation were the chief items of business Thursday at the closing of the Association's 55th annual convention.

The certification program is similar to action taken in 1955 when head officers of schools were asked to certify that their schools were complying with regulations.

Pender Rates Slim Edge In Title Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Britain's Terry Downes is confident he can whip Paul Pender under any conditions — fair or foul — in the ring Saturday night.

The two ex-U.S. Marines meet in a television 15-rounder at the Boston Arena for Pender's portion of the world middleweight title. The Brookline, Mass., boxer is recognized as champion by Massachusetts, New York and Europe. Gene Fullmer of Utah is hailed as king of the 160-pounders by the American National Boxing Association.

Downes, who holds the British title, said he wouldn't turn the other cheek if Pender uses illegal rabbit punches (blows against the back of the neck) against him as he did in two title fights here with Sugar Ray Robinson.

"If he uses rabbits on me, I'll give him some rabbits of my own," said the articulate, American-trained Londoner.

The odds favoring Pender have dropped a couple of points in the last few days. Pender, once an 11-5 favorite, now is the 9-5 choice.

Braves Beaten 60-59 After 18 Straight Wins

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas, sub. is big, bold, brash and — to Bradley's basketball Braves — just plain bad!

For the second time in two seasons, the University of Houston has derailed one of Bradley's unbeaten streaks. Thursday night, it was a 60-59 upset that snapped the Braves' nation-leading major college winning string at 18. Bradley had started the new one, which carried through the National Invitation Tournament championship and 12 games this season, after having a 15-game streak broken by the same big, bold, brash and bad Houston on Feb. 22 last year.

It was an Illinois boy — hailing from Wood River about 150 miles south of Bradley's Peoria campus — who applied the string-snapper in the intersectional game at Houston.

Jim Lemmon, a 6-2 senior, sank a free throw with 35 seconds left to close out the victory over the nation's No. 2 team and one of five major unbeaten clubs in the country. The two trips to Houston have cost the Braves a 35-game streak.

The Braves remain the Missouri Valley Conference leader and favorite since Houston (now 8-5) pulled out of the league this year, but other MVC clubs showed there are other pitfalls ahead.

Reawakening Cincinnati (10-3) survived a shower of debris from unhappy Wichita fans and crushed the Wheatshockers 80-57 for a 2-2 league record as soph Tom Thacker's 20 points led a balanced attack. Tulsa held Drake's high-scoring Gus Guydon without a point in the first half while handing the Bulldogs their second loss in 12 games, 81-69. St. Louis (10-4) was the only favorite to win — routing North Texas State (1-10) 60-40.

Virginia Tech (5-0) and West Virginia (5-1) remained a half-game apart in the Southern Conference. Tech, winning its seventh against two losses over-all, whipped VMI 78-63 as Chris Smith scored 26 points. Sophomore Rod Thorn fired 32 points in a 106-87 rout of George Washington that extended West Virginia's winning streak to eight and its overall record to 10-2.

Dave King's tip-in with 20 seconds left gave Connecticut its third straight Yankee Conference victory, 79-77 over New Hampshire, and Utah's defending champions made it 2-0 in Skyline Conference tussling, 111-66 over New Mexico as Billy McGill scored 27 points.

All five Notre Dame starters hit double figures, led by John Tulley's 16, in a 76-54 romp over St. Francis (Pa.), and 26 points by Tom Conrad and 21 by Jerry Smith led Furman's 70-61 victory over Clemson.

Monti Leading At San Diego

By BOB MYERS
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Eric Monti of Los Angeles, who was seven strokes off the pace a year ago, led the field into the second round of the $20,000 San Diego golf tournament today.

The 41-year-old teaching professional had a brilliant first-round 66, five-under-par. But he was only one stroke ahead of his nearest rival as play was resumed over the par 35-67 Mission Valley County Club course.

In a three-way tie for second place at 67 were Gary Player of South Africa, who missed a $10,000 hole-in-one prize by 10 inches Thursday; Jerry Barber, 135-pound veteran from Los Angeles, and Marty Furgol, another old-timer who won the tournament in 1959.

Just two shots behind Monti were six threats—Bob Goalby, the Los Angeles Open winner last Monday; ex-National PGA champion Lionel Hebert; Bo Winger, Don January, Frank Boynton and Darel Hickock.

Cage Fans Get Into Act As Cincy Routs Wichita

By The Associated Press
The upset-minded Cincinnati Bearcats had a mind to do just that Thursday night.

And when you can connect on every other shot from the floor, for a blistering 51.6 per cent, it's not too hard to accomplish.

So the Bearcats found out as they routed Wichita 80-57 for their second Missouri Valley Conference victory in four starts.

The 'Cats had the Shockers screaming me-ow-w-w-ch by halftime when they led 42-21.

But the real screams came from the fans who started pelling the court with debris when Gene Wiley, Wichita's 6-10 star, was injured early in the second half and had to leave the game.

Two warnings by officials failed to stop the boisterousness. It wasn't until Wichita coach Ralph Miller announced that

TV Lacks Merchandise Gimmick This Season

Clothing and novelty manufacturers consider this a poor TV season.

They haven't had a really hot item spring from any of the current shows. TV producers are just as unhappy over this state of affairs. If a TV series gives birth to a hot merchandise gimmick, they can make as much or more from it as on the series itself. A novelty man I'm acquainted with saw a kid in his neighborhood wearing an old Mickey Mouse cap which he probably had resurrected from a bundle intended for the Salvation Army.

The novelty man had to fight back a lump in his throat when he recalled the gross sales rung up with that item.

WALT DISNEY hasn't had a merchandise hit since his Davy Crockett coonskin caps and Zorro capes, but he's got the kids hooked on Disneyland so probably doesn't care any more.

Some merchandise continues to have a nice steady sale, such as Roy Rogers guns and holsters, hats and other Western paraphernalia for apprentice cowpokes, but merchandisers are looking for the big one.

Hal Bell of H. G. Saperstein & Associates reports that Huckleberry Hound dolls, toys and comic books are going very well but says the last really big merchandise bonanza was Elvis Presley clothing (hats, neckerchiefs, etc.). In three months, $30 million worth of this stuff was retailed to the kids.

A TV SERIES really has to catch fire with the kids and lend itself to a geegaw before it can be merchandised. Norman Pincus, associate producer of "The Real McCoys," has been trying fruitlessly to get a merchandise gimmick. The series is hot, but he's still looking for the right novelty.

"It isn't easy, and the promoters who handle such things get discouraged too easily," says Pincus. "We're working on something now, though, which we hope will go. It's a McCoy patch. They'll come in various colors and can be cemented right on a kid's pants."

The rash of private-eye and crime shows on TV this season has concerned parents, who fear it's creating a yen in their offspring for a career of crime, but for the novelty manufacturers it's a headache of another type. There's nothing to sell. J. Edgar Hoover would be sure to frown on any attempt to market blackjacks and brass knuckles.

PRODUCERS of "The Untouchables" licensed some manufacturers to get out a line of toy firearms last Christmas. There was a Tommy gun, pistol and a gat the kids could hold up their sleeves. One problem here is that "The Untouchables" comes on too late at night for most kids, so they haven't heard of one of the heroes of our time — Eliot Ness.

A recording company released a long-play album last week which has Walter Winchell (billed as "Narrator of 'The Untouchables'") telling us in his end-of-the-world style how he turned Lepke over to the FBI. It's a rather frightening thing to hear, and even more frightening when one considers that this type of album might catch on.

On the back of this WW album is a biographical sketch, the final paragraph of which reads, "Winchell's primary objective is to explain the 20th century to his millions of readers. The fact is, however, that historians will be unable to explain the 20th century without understanding Winchell."

SO, RIGHT THERE a lot of us are going to have to toss out the whole 20th century. Pity!

Maybe the merchandisers are overlooking a real bet by not doing something with the documentary and news shows. A set of Huntley-Brinkley plaster of paris dolls on your mantel might look rather nice. Or, how about a 2-foot-high replica of Ed Murrow wearing his it's-later-than-you-think look?

You're snickering, but culture has to begin somewhere!

Court Revenue Shows Decline To $56,766

Municipal Court revenue totaled $56,766 in 1960, down $1,431 from the $58,197 shown in 1959, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon said today in his annual report.

The court turned over a total of $50,261 to the city treasury from last year's income, a drop of $2,240 from the $52,501 the city received in 1959.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented that a sharp decline in the number of drunken driving cases, coupled with depressed area economic conditions, helped account for the drop in court income. The number of drunken drivers was down about 60 per cent, compared with 1959.

"My pledge when assuming the bench a year ago was that if a stern policy toward drinking and driving would save as much as one life I would feel well repaid," the judge commented. "I feel the sharp reduction in cases shows the policy has had an effect."

The revenue turned over to the city in 1960 was comprised of $43,976 in fines and costs from city criminal cases and $6,285 from costs in civil actions. The criminal receipts were down $2,546 from the $46,522 shown in 1959, but income in civil actions was up $286 from 1959's $5,979.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $3,078 to the county treasurer from state cases, $2,267 to the state treasury, also from state cases, and paid $1,158 to the Law Library Association.

The total handled by the court hit $105,961 last year, off $377 from the $106,338 reported in 1959. The amount handled last year was comprised of $43,317 in civil cases and $62,643 in criminal cases.

Fines and costs, by months, in city criminal cases were: January, $3,357; February, $4,367; March, $3,758; April, $3,791; May, $2,875; June, $4,340; July, $4,310; August, $4,398; September, $1,916; October, $3,867; November, $3,580; and December, $3,413.

Civil costs by months were: January, $587; February, $600; March, $669; April, $501; May, $580; June, $462; July, $381; August, $395; September, $395; October, $614; November, $354; and December, $314.

A total of 710 civil cases was filed in 1960, compared with 681 in 1959. The court disposed of 590 and 257 were left pending.

The year saw 848 city criminal cases filed, against 1,048 in 1959, with 809 disposed of and 52 left pending.

There were 544 state criminal cases filed in 1960, against 488 in 1959, with 489 disposed of and 104 left pending.

Overall, 710 cases were filed last year, with 848 disposed of and 544 left pending.

Funds To Renew Junior Fair To Be Requested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Fair Managers Association, ending a two-day convention, Thursday resolved to ask the state director of agriculture to request the legislature to renew funds for junior fair operations. In the past, the state has provided $1,000 to the county fairs for the younger groups.

Before their annual banquet, delegates elected Bryan P. Sandles of Springfield president to succeed Russell W. Alt, secretary of the Fairfield County fair. A manager of the Clark County fair, Sandles moved into office from the first vice presidency. Other officers elected were Merle Stacy of Marietta, first vice president; George Connelly, Wauseon, second vice president; Miss Goldie V. Scheible, Dayton, executive secretary, and Henry G. Richards, Mount Vernon, treasurer.

Pennsy Takes Action On Standby Equipment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad says "corrective action already has been taken" regarding standby equipment for the morning commuter run from Ravenna to Cleveland. James L. Fullin, assistant secretary of the Utilities Commission, said he received a letter Thursday in which assistant general solicitor Donald Brinkworth of the railroad wrote: "I am handling the matter with our Lake Region (presumably Cleveland) and will make a full reply in the near future."

Fullin said commuters complained of poor service when the PRR supplied a substitute train. The railroad provides the fill-in train when the regular train coming west from Pittsburgh is more than a half-hour behind schedule.

Man, 21, Held For Burglary

Norman R. Buzzard, 21, of Grimms Bridge was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond Thursday when he pleaded guilty before County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine on a burglary charge in connection with a breaking and entering at a Beaver Creek cabin in October.

Buzzard was taken into custody Monday by Constables John Jackson and Harry Skelton, who said Buzzard also admitted entering two other cabins along the creek in the Grimms Bridge area last season.

The charges against Buzzard were filed in connection with an entering of the cabin of Hamilton English of Sugar St., in which fishing tackle was stolen, Jackson said. Buzzard also admitted entering the cabin of Paul Stanley and another owned by a man named Waggle. An umbrella stolen from the Waggle cabin has been recovered, Jackson said.

The constable said Buzzard was taken into custody as a result of a continuing investigation, plus a tip. Burglaries at two other cabins still are under investigation, he added.

Buzzard was remanded to County Jail at Lisbon in default of bond. Jackson said it is unlikely his case will be presented before the current Grand Jury session, which is scheduled to end sometime today.

Dinero, Por Favor City In Peru Asks In Plea For Funds

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet received a letter Thursday noted mainly for its ungrammatical English and badly misspelled words, but the message was clear: The town of Pisco, Peru, is trying to raise $1.5 million American dollars to finance construction of a sewage disposal plant.

The plea for funds was signed by Luis Montero, president of the Junta de Obras Publicas of the Municipalidad de Pisco (division of public works of the city of Pisco).

In an apparent phonetic spelling of some of the unfamiliar English words, he wrote:

"In our search to accomplish this needs and to give this people a healthy water supply and a workable sewage system, we have raised our eyes to the north and ask from the generosity of our American neighbors the help we so badly need."

Water Cut Off Briefly During Hunt For Leak
SALINEVILLE — Water crews were hoping for "reverse luck" today — Friday the 13th — in locating the source of loss of some 40,000 gallons a day from the town's water distribution system.

The loss, believed through an abandoned coal mine shaft, was first noticed Sunday. Water was turned off for a short time Thursday night during a check of the area about the reservoir, George Leishman of the water plant said.

Pumping operations, which are generally about 75,000 gallons a day to supply the community, continue between 110,000 to 120,000 gallons to keep the reservoir adequately filled, Leishman said.

Kennedy's Investment Assets Are Valued Up To $10 Million
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy appears to have investment assets valued at perhaps up to $10 million.

This was indicated Thursday night when it was disclosed that Kennedy has converted all of his investments over which he had control into government bonds—federal, state and municipal.

Pierre Salinger, his press secretary, told newsmen in response to questions that the president-elect's total holdings now consist of such bonds, plus the houses he owns in Washington and at Hyannis Port, Mass., and three trust funds set up for him and his brothers and sisters by their father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Salinger said the president-elect's income from these trusts—set up in 1926, 1936 and 1949—amounts to about $100,000 annually, after taxes. The income before taxes reportedly is about $500,000 a year.

Assuming interest at the rate of about 4 to 5 per cent, the funds could have a principal value of close to $10 million. Kennedy has other holdings, including the undisclosed value of investments he has converted into government bonds.

His home in Washington's fashionable Georgetown area reportedly is valued at about $100,000. The Hyannis Port place is an additional asset.

Salinger refused to give figures on Kennedy's holdings beyond the income realized from the trust funds.

The three trusts are irrevocable, which means the president-elect has no control over investment of the principal. His mother reportedly is one of the trustees.

Weight Control Primer Offered Reducers

We've all heard of McGuffey's Reader, that primer used to teach reading in the days of long ago. It was full of many nuggets of wisdom about living. A new booklet by the nutritionists in the Department of Agriculture is full of nuggets, too — about weight control.

Whether you want to lose, by Ida Jean Kain to gain, or maintain your present weight, this booklet will tell you the what of eating and the way of gaining — or losing.

"Food and Your Weight," Home and Garden Bulletin No. 74, was written by Louise Page and Lillian J. Fincher. They tell about not only how to control your caloric intake, but also the effect of increased activity on your weight...and how increasing your activity can slowly decrease your weight with little change in your present ways of eating.

THIS, OF COURSE, assumes that your diet is well-balanced and meets all nutrition essentials. They describe the case of an overweight homemaker who changes her ways of working only one hour daily. By switching from one hour of an activity she does while sitting to moderately active work around the house, she can lose about 9 pounds a year.

This switch in activity uses up an additional 90 calories a day. By using up more of this sitting time in active recreation for another hour during the day, she will take off another 15 pounds during the year...or a total of 24 pounds in a single year...with small change in eating habits.

Need we point out that the reverse is also true — decreased activity can cause a weight gain with no change in food habits.

The booklet also shows how a basic menu can be used for reducing, with 1,200 calories, and how the same menu with simple additions can provide 3,000 calories a day. Careful examination of these menus can point out the little ways in which extra calories are creeping into your diet, also show those needing to gain weight that additional calories are not difficult to incorporate into regular meals.

Another table shows how meal preparation can add to the caloric content of foods...and often that the method of preparation can double or triple the initial amount of calories in the plain food.

EARLY in the booklet, you'll find a table showing average weights of men and women. You can check to find your proper weight here and then read on to find out how to figure the number of calories needed every day to maintain your desirable weight.

Single copies of this excellent booklet, "Food and Your Weight," (HG-74), can be obtained by writing to the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C. More than one copy will cost 15 cents apiece. (c) King Features 1961

Problems Outnumber Programs

Critical Military Affairs Decisions Await Kennedy

As the inauguration nears, problems facing the Kennedy administration in military affairs outnumber announced programs for solutions. In the fourth of five articles on the broad outline of Kennedy policies, an Associated Press specialist identifies areas awaiting important decisions.

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy has said he wants to speed up the missile program, expand forces for fighting conventional war, improve air defense, do more about protection against rocket-firing submarines.

If the incoming administration makes these and other changes in the nation's military program it will cost money—perhaps more than the $42-billion or $43-billion defense program expected to be submitted by the outgoing Eisenhower administration. But Kennedy also has expressed belief that billions can be saved by administrative improvements and curtailing service competition. Beyond these programs which can be controlled by Kennedy and his defense secretary-designate, Robert S. McNamara, are other potential factors which can be decided by national policy making alone.

Shifts in the international situation can influence profoundly Kennedy's national defense policies. He comes into office as new tensions mount in Southeast Asia, as relations with Cuba worsen, as the future trend of NATO defense strength is considered, as pressures increase for resumption of nuclear weapons tests.

Any one of many world problems can dictate the size, kind and deployment of U.S. forces.

An argument reiterated during the presidential campaign was that the United States had lost prestige militarily as well as politically. Democratic critics aimed particularly at the missile category. In answering a series of questions by the publication "Missiles and Rockets," Kennedy said during the campaign that he would send to Congress several specific requests, among them proposals to "accelerate our Polaris, Minuteman and other strategic missile programs."

In the same statement, Kennedy said competition between the armed forces must be minimized, that "our competitors lie on the other side of the Iron Curtain."

It happens that the sharpest competition among the services at the moment concerns the very weapons mentioned by Kennedy—the Navy's Polaris missile-atomic submarine system, on the one hand, and the Minuteman and other strategic missile programs of the Air Force.

Available to Kennedy will be the policy followed by the present administration: a mixture of strategic weapons launched from distant or intermediate ranges, from protected sites and from submerged submarines, by plane-carried nuclear bombs as well as missiles.

But there undoubtedly has been duplication in the development programs of the services. Missiles closely similar in range and load-carrying capability have been developed independently not only by the Navy and Air Force but by the Army.

There are problems other than these strategic concepts facing Kennedy and McNamara. The budget, for one, Kennedy has said "defense spending must be based on the security needs of the nation, not the pre-determined confines of a budget."

This statement is not unprecedented. It has come from all administrations of peacetime years. Always it has been countered by the argument that the shape of the military is of necessity patterned to that of the budget.

One of the first things that Kennedy may have to do is tackle the question of service dependents overseas.

The Eisenhower administration, seeking to arrest the dollar drain, decided that the number of families of servicemen living abroad should be halved. Angry objections came swiftly. It was contended morale was threatened, that military personnel might leave service by the thousands. The outgoing administration re-treated a little, softened some of the measure. The new administration will be under pressure to void the whole dependents-return order.

The dependents' question is only a facet of the bigger problem of reducing the dollar-gold outflow. If the situation does not improve, it conceivably could influence the size of forces which can be continued in the NATO organization and elsewhere overseas.

Northeast Ohio Blue

Cross At Record Signup

CLEVELAND (AP)—Enrollment in Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio has reached an all-time high with 1,847,075 subscribers in the 11 counties of its area, reports John R. Mannix, executive vice president. Mannix said enrollment as of Jan. 1 was 21,978 higher than on the same date last year.

He said Cleveland, with more than 80 per cent of its residents as subscribers, probably has the greatest concentration of enrollment in the country. The gain was achieved despite an announced increase due next month in seven counties, and despite substantial unemployment in the area, said Mannix.

Free Pre-Inaugural Show Tickets Due 250

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 250 disabled veterans, military hospital patients and Medal of Honor winners are getting free $100 tickets to the pre-inaugural show being staged by Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford.

A spokesman said today patients will be selected from Bethesda Naval Hospital, Walter Reed Army Hospital and hospitals at nearby Andrews Air Force Base and Ft. Belvoir.

Opposes Fare Boost

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An application has been filed by the city for a temporary restraining order to halt a fare increase by the Youngstown Transit Co., scheduled to start Sunday. Thursday's action, to be heard before Maiden Jr. today, also seeks a permanent injunction against the increase—from 25 to 28 cents.

Robert Kennedy To Face Senate Committee Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republican needling—but no serious challenge—appeared to be in store today for Attorney General-designate Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, 35, a brother of President-elect John F. Kennedy, goes before the Senate Judiciary Committee for a hearing on his selection to direct the Justice Department's far-flung law enforcement activities.

None of the committee's Republicans said they intended to oppose Robert Kennedy's appointment or try to obstruct Senate confirmation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a committee member, said Republicans plan extensive questioning to compile a record to which they can point if Kennedy later stubs his toe.

The hearing on Kennedy, probably the most controversial of any of the new Cabinet appointments, was called in advance of official submission of his nomination. Other Senate hearings were called today on Orville L. Freeman to be secretary of agriculture, Arthur J. Goldberg to be secretary of labor, Abraham A. Ribicoff to be secretary of welfare and Stewart L. Udall to be secretary of the interior.

In addition, the Senate Finance Committee asked Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the treasury-designate, to return for further questioning.

The Foreign Relations Committee completed a hearing Thursday on Dean Rusk to be secretary of state, and the Commerce Committee announced it will have a hearing next Wednesday on Luther H. Hodges, named to be secretary of commerce.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

I wish we parents might prevail on teachers not to assign more written homework than they have the time to check carefully. A certain father of four children in the elementary grades deplored the practice of teachers who assign excessive drill problems for homework. He referred to drill exercises in addition and the other fundamental operations related to whole numbers and fractions. It means an hour or so of drudgery for the child who generally practices on making mistakes. Being pretty sure the teacher won't have time to check all his work, the child, as a rule, does it carelessly.

SAID THAT FATHER:

"I don't object to having the child work hard or to having him practice or drill on such matters. I object to his having so much practice at making mistakes."

To this father I replied:

"Why don't you or the mother check such work of your child and make him re-do what he got wrong?"

When you are sure your child has an excessive amount of this homework, try to have a conference with the teacher. Or you might persuade the child to do only a reasonable portion of the assignment, emphasizing accuracy and neatness. Then you might attach a note to his paper stating what you had done.

ANY REASONABLE teacher should welcome such procedure.

If your child has no drill assignments for homework at all from about grade three to six, you might provide a few items in basic number work requiring 15 or 20 minutes. Then you should supervise it, helping him practice with as few mistakes as possible.

Suppose your child in the middle grades comes home with 10 or 20 words to learn to spell. Have him attack only as many of them as he can master within 20 or 30 minutes.

It's far better for him to learn to spell three or four of them accurately than to mess over all of them and thus practice at spelling them wrong.

YOUR CHILD'S teacher may send you a note asking you to drill him at home on the basic addition facts, like 8 and 7 are 15; or the subtraction or multiplication facts.

In such a case, you are inclined to have him practice on far too many an evening. Instead, have him dwell on three or four an evening, certainly no more than he can master without errors.

Arithmetic, Spelling, Reading, and Handwriting" and "Helping Your Child With His Lessons", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Judge Criticizes State Liquor Law

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Judge James A. Young calls the state liquor law that holds bar owners or employees unconditionally responsible if they sell to minors "harsh, cruel and unjust."

Judge Young criticized the law Thursday after hearing the case of Ralph Morey, operator of Happy's Lunch. Morey pleaded innocent of selling beer to a minor and entered no defense.

Morey told the judge the boy showed a draft car, found later to belong to an older youth. Morey cited his 28 years in business with a clean record.

"I would like to discharge you, but the law is such that I cannot," Judge Young told Morey. He fined Morey $150 and costs, and suspended $50 of the fine.

MORE THAN MEETS the EYE

When you look at a prescription, you see only the physical characteristics of the medicine. Yet, within the bottle is the scientific research that discovered and developed the drugs... the manufacturing "know-how" that produced them... the skill of the doctor who prescribed them... and the knowledge of the pharmacist who dispensed them.

The real "miracle" of today's medicine is that so much goes into your prescription at so little cost to you.
